

OPTICKS

Part of the Opticks, written by Sir Isaac Newton, was presented to the Royal Society in the Year 1672, and has since been read at their Meetings. Twelve Years ago, the Third Book, and were since put together, being engaged in hitherto delayed to lay it, had not time. If any other of my Hands they before I had tried and fully satisfied and Composition of I think proper to Translated into an

The Crowns of the Sun and Moon count of; but for Matter to be further Book I have also

A D
Part of the en
at the desire
in the Year 167
read at their M
Twelve Years a Third Book, and were since put to being engaged in
hitherto delayed t
layed it, had not t
me. If any othe of my Hands they
before I had trie
and fully satisfie
and Composition o
I think proper to Translated into an
The Crowns of
the Sun and Mo
count of; but for
Matter to be furth
Book I have also